DELFINGEN confirms its growth momentum in Asia and inaugurates two plants in China

DELFINGEN, global automotive supplier and a leading manufacturer of on-board networks protection solutions and fluid transfer tubing, continues to implement its development strategy in Asia. DELFINGEN inaugurated two plants in China this week: one in Hebi on September 20 and the other in Tianjin on September 22.

These two new sites were inaugurated in the presence of Gérald Streit, DELFINGEN’s CEO, and Damien Personeni, Executive Vice President.

The company has been active in China since 2010 with a first plant in Wuhan. The new Hebi facility will enable DELFINGEN to double its production capacity of plastic technical tubing and sleeves for the Chinese automotive market.

The DELFINGEN site in Tianjin is the result of a technical partnership with the BONSING company and it will be dedicated to the production of technical textile protection sleeves.

These two new plants enable the company to strengthen its manufacturing assets and significantly increase its production capacity in China. The local manufacturing of a complete range of solutions corresponds to DELFINGEN’s constant will to always provide better service to its customers.

Damien Personeni, Executive Vice President said:
“DELFINGEN has wanted to develop its presence in China, the first global automotive market. We are happy to open these two new plants, thus meeting the high local demand of our customers, automotive suppliers and carmakers, with increasing requirements in terms of quality and reactivity.”

The opening celebrations were held in the finest Chinese tradition with a lion dance, a symbol of happiness and boldness, in the presence of some one hundred customers, government officials, partners and co-workers.
