DELFINGEN continues to grow in Asia and opens a new plant in the Philippines

Based in Cebu since 2000, DELFINGEN has just celebrated its 15th year of presence and sustainable investment in the Philippines.

These festivities were also an opportunity for DELFINGEN to celebrate the opening of its second production site in Cavite (Manila).

With a specialization in plastic extrusion, injection molding, and technical textiles, this new plant is dedicated to the manufacturing of tubing and components for the protection of automotive electrical wiring harnesses.

Always respectful of local culture, DELFINGEN invited a catholic priest to bless the building and machines.

“Over half of the global automotive production is concentrated in Asia and DELFINGEN pursues its growth strategy in this region of the world. With this new site, local industrial support to global customers continues to be strengthened.” said Damien Personeni, Executive Vice President.
