Essilor Vision Foundation and DELFINGEN Foundation join hands to bring good vision to DELFINGEN’s employees and families in Cebu, Philippines

Essilor Vision Foundation (EVF) Singapore and DELFINGEN Foundation are proud to announce an eye care initiative providing around 700 DELFINGEN employees and their family members with free eye screenings and a pair of spectacles if needed.

EVF Singapore and DELFINGEN Foundation will conduct two full days of eye screenings on the 16th and 17th of September. More than 30 volunteers from the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand will come together to bring eye care services to DELFINGEN’s employees and family members. The event is expected to be graced by Ms Aicha Mokdahi, President of Essilor Vision Foundation, and M. Bernard Streit, President of DELFINGEN.

One in three people in the world need vision correction but do not have access to it. In the Philippines, 22% of the total population who would need corrective glasses do not have them because of either or all of the following issues; affordability, accessibility to distribution channels, or simply being unaware that a pair of glasses could solve their vision difficulties. Therefore, this initiative aims to not only provide vision care to the Filipino population but also to raise greater awareness of adequate eye care and the importance of regular eye checkups.

“Healthy eyesight is not just a basic human right; it also has a considerable impact on one’s work productivity. Studies prove that workers who suffer from uncorrected vision are 34% less productive. Something as simple as a pair of glasses does not just improve an individual’s productivity at work, but also their overall quality of life. This is why the foundation is and will remain committed to collaborating with like-minded partners like DELFINGEN Foundation to address uncorrected refractive error in the Philippines and around the world” said Aicha Mokdahi, President of Essilor Vision Foundation.

“Health of the co-workers and their families and children's education are in the scope of DELFINGEN Foundation since 10 years. A few actions of eyesight tests, and buying of glasses for schoolchildren, were already conducted by our Foundation in different countries. There is actually a direct link between a healthy eyesight and ability to learn for the young children. With the great and very professional support of Essilor Vision Foundation, we can now extend this action of eyescreening to our Filipino colleagues and their families, and contribute to Essilor objectives to improve lives by improving sight, while contributing to our own target to help individuals become more autonomous thanks to the access to health care, education”, said Bernard Streit, President of DELFINGEN Foundation.
